

Pastors from rural Liberia who benefited from the transportation assistance

10 Sierra Leonean believers who joined us from the three new churches that we planted this year in predominantly Muslim villages (Sienga, Fobu, and Tarkpoima) in Sierra Leone near the Liberian border. They are from the Mende tribe, a predominantly Muslim tribe deep in the jungle along the border with Liberia.

A section of delegates during one of the training sessions

A section of conference delegates

A pastor taking notes during one of the teaching sessions